GANQUAN YUCHA GRAND CANYON

Ganquan Yucha Grand Canyon, known as the 'World's Dynamic Danxia,' is an outstanding hidden gem in travel that has not been overly developed. It is a designated shooting location for China National Geographic magazine. It is believed that tens of millions of years ago, a powerful earthquake occurred here, causing a crack in the mountainous terrain of the Loess Plateau. Through long-term erosion by rainwater, the surface gradually formed a unique canyon landscape, displaying marvelous ripple-like curves, creating a natural wonder known as the most beautiful scar on Earth.
